

Projectmanagement

Besides a wide range of standard fasteners, Multi-Fix has specialized in customized products for over 10 years.

A product as per customer specification, is handled with the utmost care, from inquiry up to delivery to the customer. One of our project managers takes on the supervision of design, development, quality control and manufacturability of these specific articles. After complete preparation Multi-Fix takes the required item into production, entirely in accordance with specifications, while continuously keeping in contact with the customer.

At our own production facility Multi-Fix Shanghai, but also at a number of carefully selected suppliers in China, we are able to produce products that meet the strictest quality standards, on a large scale. These suppliers are audited by our own organization, in order to determine and secure the quality system. The range of these products is very diverse and includes mill-turn parts, sheet metal and / or components, extrusions and (injection) molding of metal or plastic).

In the pre-production and sample phase of a project, all pre-defined specifications and requirements are discussed with the supplier(s) directly by the relevant Project Manager. Furthermore, we ensure, through video-conferencing and personal visits, that communication with our suppliers is kept short and direct.

Production is started only after the customer provides samples.

After the goods are delivered at our Chinese factory, size and functionality are checked by our own quality control department.

Our equipped chamber / laboratory allows us to perform the following tests: salt spray test, strength test, chemical analysis and obviously measurement and functional control.

All these measurements and tests are clearly and neatly reported into SIF documents (Sample Inspection Form), which are available at all times.

“Long term, well maintained relationships with customers are based on mutual trust”

“A product as per customer specification, is handled with the utmost care”

At our location in Bergeijk a final quality check is conducted before the goods are delivered to our customers. Long term, well maintained relationships with customers are based on mutual trust.

This is exactly what we are aiming for. Therefore Multi-Fix is also Your partner in parts for customer specific products.
